

FutureGame
CORPORATE EDITION
| SIMULATION LEARNING |

In Today's Economy, Is Your Organization Asking...

“What Can I Do To Plan When the Future Seems So Uncertain?”

Understand and explore the importance of good leadership and critical decision making with The Future Game® Corporate Edition, a new and innovative product from Future iQ Partners and the Adaptive Human Capital Network. Learn how decisions that seem sensible in the short-term have the potential to play out in unpredictable ways, making it critical to shift course to protect organizational priorities and values.

The Value

Teams

The Future Game Corporate Edition demonstrates the importance of leadership in guiding teams, divisions, and entire organizations through critical decision making processes by exploring how their decisions contribute to long-term scenarios and business outcomes.

Individuals

On an individual level, it provides a chance to gain an awareness of one's decision making approach, and see the long-term value of decision making made through team collaboration and with long-term goals and a strategic plan in mind. Participants walk away from playing the game with a greater recognition of how decisions made today significantly impact the future of their organization, division, and job.

A Proven Tool

The development of The Future Game tool has been pioneered and refined by Future iQ Partners over 7 years. Originally developed for application as a regional planning tool, set in the Australian Outback, the game concept has since been successfully adapted and applied in many settings across North America, Europe, and Australasia. It has now been adapted and tested for application in the corporate and organizational markets.

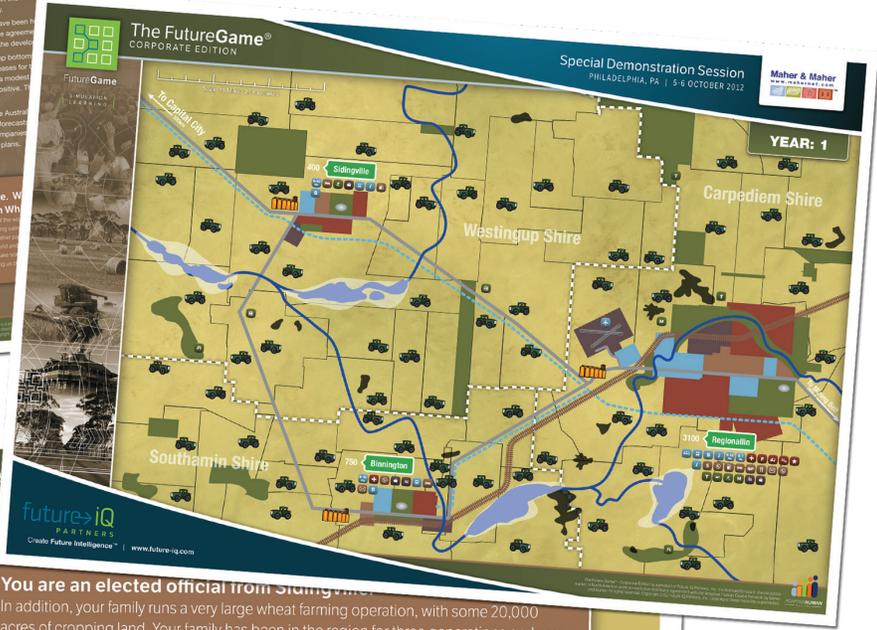

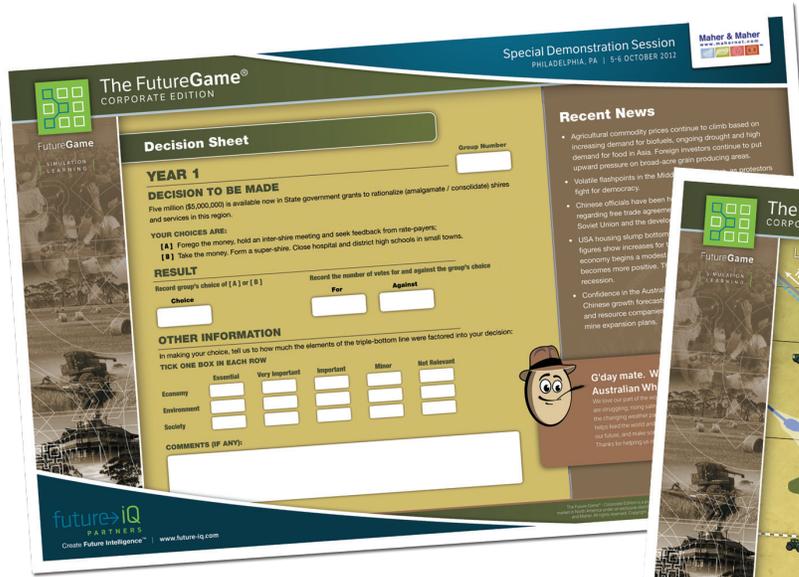

How it Works

The Future Game Corporate Edition is set in the Australian outback and is a stand-alone simulation played in groups in a workshop setting. It uses a creative and engaging instructional video, led by the game's author—a true Aussie—as the guide. This video, visually esthetic and authentic maps, and other game components deliver an engaging and effective experience.

There are three optional Awareness Builders offered to expand or bridge the discussion after the game into one that is organizationally specific, yet related to the game's key themes: team building, decision making, or strategic planning. The game can be utilized in smaller groups of 25 and at company meetings or events with groups of over 200 people.

Copyright ©2012 Future iQ Partners, Inc.

The Future Game® Corporate Edition is a product of Future iQ Partners, Inc. It is licensed for use in the corporate market in North America under an exclusive distributor agreement with the Adaptive Human Capital Network, operated by Maher & Maher. All rights reserved.

This “future simulation” approach can be used in a range of ways to:

- Demonstrate how careful planning assists organizations in achieving the future they aspire to create.
- Identify and analyze the triple bottom line – social, environmental, and economic factors – and how these translate to organizations.
- Create an awareness of key elements and drivers of the decision making processes that contribute to a solid strategic plan or future vision for organizations.
- Foster team collaboration to create and plan for future investment decisions, operational decisions, and organizational strategies.

For More Information and to play the Future Game Corporate Edition, contact your Adaptive Human Capital Network Distributor: